

8. INSPECTAH DECK

Everyone knows who he is, but no one's ever really taken a closer look at who he is as an individual. I got his album and I wasn't really feeling the production, but I loved the rhymes. Production is why he's slept on.

9. SHA-ROCK (FUNKY FOUR + ONE MORE)

She was the first female to be a part of an all-male collective, like the so-called token chick in the crew, but she actually has rhyming skills. She's never been awarded any type of attention or a lot of acknowledgment for her presence and for representing females. Just because of her being a female she's slept on.

10. JT THE BIGGA FIGGA

I like him. I only have one tape by him but it was so well put together I've been running it since I got it. I think he's overlooked because up until recently people who bought hip hop weren't really open to checking for original beats.

[BONUS] DJ QUIK

I'm gonna go down and get his new one later on today. His beats have always been so ahead of his time. Put an asterisk beside Quik cuz I like him a lot.

FRITZ THE CAT

Bahamadia's B.B. Queen EP is out July 27 on Goodvibe Recordings.
